

Nimbus Works Pvt. Ltd. expects every employee to act honestly, fairly and with respect for colleagues, customers and the law. This Code of Conduct (document POL-HR-006, version 3.0) applies to all employees, contractors and interns, and describes the standards of behaviour that we expect in every part of our work. If a situation is not covered here, use good judgement and ask your manager or HR.

Employees may accept gifts from vendors or clients only if the value does not exceed INR 2,500 per gift and INR 7,500 in total per calendar year. Gifts above these limits must be politely declined or handed over to HR. Cash or cash equivalents, such as gift cards, must never be accepted, whatever the amount.

A conflict of interest arises when a personal interest could influence, or appear to influence, a business decision. Any such conflict, including a financial interest in a vendor or competitor and a close relative working for a vendor, must be disclosed in writing to your manager and to HR within 7 days of becoming aware of it. The manager and HR will decide whether the employee should step away from the decision concerned.

Employees must protect confidential company and customer information, both during employment and after it ends. Confidential information must not be shared on social media, in public forums or with unauthorised persons. Views posted on personal social media accounts are personal and must not suggest that they represent the company.

Anyone who sees or suspects a breach of this Code should report it. Concerns can be raised with the Ethics Committee through the confidential hotline at 1800-555-0142 or by email to ethics@nimbusworks.example. Reports can be made anonymously. The company will not tolerate retaliation against anyone who raises a concern in good faith, and retaliation is itself a breach of this Code.

The company has zero tolerance for harassment or discrimination of any kind. Complaints of sexual harassment must be made to the Internal Committee in writing within 3 months of the incident, although the Committee may extend this period for good reason. All complaints are handled confidentially.

Violations of this Code may lead to disciplinary action, up to and including termination of employment, and where the law requires it the company will report the matter to the authorities.
